Mary to rescue as man's heart stops

Arts centre worker's training kicks in ahead of dramatic air ambulance landing

Emergency: the air ambulance takes off with Mr Shipp aboard.

A STAFF member at Haverhill Arts Centre has been hailed as a lifesaver after coming to the rescue of a man whose heart had stopped.

town's U3A group at the centre on Tuesday. She continued giving CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) to Mr Shipp, with help from retired police officer Jim Begg, until ambulance staff arrived to take over.

and Mr Shipp was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital.

Mary, 59, from Steeple Bumpstead, had attended a first aid refresher course with other centre staff last week and did not hesitate to put her training into practice.

She said: "I was told someone had collapsed upstairs and I shot up there. I will never forget it; he had stopped breathing and he was like stone, because his heart had stopped.

"I just kept on doing the CPR and a man called Jim gave him a couple of breaths of mouth-to-mouth. When he started breathing again it was incredible how the colour came back to his face.

"The paramedics took over and they said we had done really well and had saved his life. I got a bit emotional afterwards – you suddenly realise what has happened.

"I am just so pleased that we managed to bring him back, I don't know how I would have reacted if we had lost him. It is the first time I have ever had to do it and I was so glad that we had done our course last week.

"I know Mr Shipp and his wife as they come into the centre quite often for line dancing and tea dances, but I did not recognise him when I started doing CPR. His wife came in and said he had eaten a meal and was sitting up in bed, so I was I really glad to know that he is OK."

Gordon Mussett, the arts centre manager, said he had been out when Mr Shipp collapsed, but returned to find all the staff were coping well with the drama.

He said: "There is no doubt that Mary saved his life and I am extremely proud of her. All the staff at the centre played their part as there were a lot of people in their 70s here, so we had to clear the building, and then clear the car park so that the air ambulance could land.

"It is the first incident like this that we have had and I was really pleased with how everyone coped with it."

Call-out was second in minutes for air ambulance

A PENSIONER was airlifted to hospital after suffering a heart attack – just minutes before a second air ambulance was sent to the aid of a man a few miles away.

A 77-year-old woman was treated by medics from the East Anglian Air Ambulance (EAAA) on Tuesday, following a cardiac arrest at her home in Simms Lane, Kedington, near Haverhill, at around noon.

Minutes later a second call for help was answered by the Essex Air Ambulance after Mr Shipp collapsed with a suspected heart attack at the Arts Centre in High Street

A spokesman for the East Anglian Air Ambulance said: "We were called first but as the other incident had only just happened we had to get Essex to respond. I have never known or heard of two incidents happening at the same time in such close proximity before."

In the Kedington incident, the clinical team of Dr Tim Lightfoot and critical care paramedic Neil Flowers were flown to the scene by Captain Dave Surtees, in Anglia Two, and landed in a field in front of the house.

The medical crew worked closely with colleagues from the East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust, who were already on scene, to treat the patient. She was given pain relief and then flown to Papworth where she received further assessment and specialist treatment.

An East Anglian Air Ambulance spokesman said: "It was important that this patient got to Papworth as soon as possible as this hospital could provide her with the specialist treatment she needed."

Musicians flock from around world

MUSICIANS from across the world made their way to Haverhill this weekend for a competition.

The 22nd Haverhill Sinfonia Soloist Competition took place on Saturday at the town's arts centre. What began as a modest competition is now a prestigious annual international event, which this year attracted 178 entrants of 38 nationalities.

The 25 musicians selected to compete in the final each performed a 20-minute programme of their own choice. Categories featured were baritone, cello, clarinet, mandolin, oboe, piano, saxophone, trombone, trumpet, viola and violin.

There were 35 prizes to the value of £8,400 to be won, plus 23 solo engagements throughout the UK.

The adjudicating panel was Kevin Hill (music director, Haverhill Sinfonia), Stephen Bryant (leader, BBC Symphony Orchestra), Timothy Lines (professor of clarinet, Royal College of Music & Royal Academy of Music) and Colin Stone (professor of Piano, Royal Academy of Music & Royal Northern College of Music).

Sponsors were Balaam's Music (Bury St Edmunds), Bernhard and Company Ltd, City of Southampton Orchestra, D. Gurteen &

Sports plans may get a cash boost

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TOWN councillors are considering helping to fund two sports plans.

Members of Haverhill Town Council have asked for more information from the Haverhill Community Sports Association, which runs the New Croft football centre in Chalkstone Way – also the new home of Haverhill Rovers FC – about its plan to fence off a training pitch.

It is also helping a group of adult BMX riders to prepare a funding application to reinstate a long-overgrown BMX track at Parkside.

The community sports association is seeking £4,000 in match funding towards the cost of fencing off its second training pitch, for which it already has planning permission.

In its funding application, the association says for the past year, its football development programme has been taking place on the open pitch, involving juniors, women and adult players.

Their statement said: "An enclosed area will prevent the current persistent dog fouling problem and rubbish, glass bottles etc, being left on the playing surface. It will create a safe environment for all the children in the community to participate in club activities on a safe surface, away from this dog fouling and glass.

"It is considered that the proposed development will act as a catalyst for sporting regeneration in the area and will enhance the opportunities for both formal and informal matches of community football and training on the site and as such will bring benefits to the wider community of Haverhill."

There are seven teams who require an enclosed, fenced-off pitch as part of their FA ground requirements, with only one available at the site at present.

A fenced-off area is also required for its community disability programme, as well as school club link and children's coaching activities.

A report to town councillors said that the £30,000 cost of providing a BMX facility in Bury St Edmunds had come from a since-closed Lottery funding programme.

A St Edmundsbury Borough Council officer is working with the Haverhill individuals, who currently have to travel to Bury St Edmunds or Braintree to ride competitively, to prove a need for the facility. This would be essential to any funding bid, which would be supported by the town council.

Owners sound alert after pet dog attacked

A PENSIONER is warning dog owners to be on their guard after her pet was attacked by another dog and left with blood pouring from its ear.

The woman, who asked not to be identified, said her husband was standing outside the Tesco store in Haverhill on Sunday morning with his dog on a lead when it was bitten on the ear by another dog. The culprit is described as a dirty white coloured Staffordshire bull terrier-type on a lead. The two people with the dog walked off on to the Chalkstone estate and refused to give any information about themselves or their dog.

Anyone who saw the incident or who has any information about the dog should contact Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100.

Rescue group seeks homes for cats

HOMES are urgently needed for outdoor cats to be used as working animals to keep mice and rats under control.

The Haverhill Branch of Cats Protection is seeking new homes for these cats, some of which are friendly and others which are feral. They would be suitable for stables, smallholdings or large gardens.

The branch is also still desperate for homes for their domestic cats, from the ages of one to 10 years. There is a long waiting list for cats to be taken in for rehoming but unless people adopt cats the branch already has, these cannot be helped.

For more details phone 0845 371 9599, or visit www.stourvalley.cats.org.uk to view all available cats.

Witness appeal after windows smashed

SEVERAL car windows were smashed in a spate of damage on the same night in two streets.

Police are appealing for information after a number of cars were damaged in York Road and The Causeway in Haverhill on Monday.

Police are keen to trace the person responsible and are asking anyone with information to contact them on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Police linking vandal attacks on cars

THREE cars parked in the same street were damaged over a weekend.

Police are linking the incidents in Castle Avenue, Haverhill, and appealing for information. Between 10pm on Saturday, September 17 and 2pm the next day, the nearside mirror of a blue Ford Focus was pulled off. Between 7pm on the Saturday and 12.45pm the next day, the offside wing mirror of a blue Vauxhall Vectra was damaged, leaving it hanging it off. Between 5pm on Friday, September 16 and 9.30am the next day, the offside mirror of a black Ford Ka was damaged.

If anyone has any information they are asked to contact Sgt Darren Lamboll at the Haverhill Response Team on (01284) 774100.

Dynos in hunt for more young players

MORE players are urgently needed to keep a boys' football team going. Steeple Bumpstead Dynamos under-11s are desperate for more players to enable them to complete their fixtures this season.

Pupils brighten church

PUPILS from 10 schools helped to fill a church with artwork as well as floral displays during its harvest celebration.

Hartfest was a three-day flower and art festival at St Mary's Church, Haverhill, from Friday until Sunday.

Displays of art work were provided by Samuel Ward Academy, Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Burton End, Clements, New Cangle, Westfield, Place Farm, Kedington and Wickhambrook primary schools, as well as Barnardiston Hall Preparatory School.

The regular Café Church session was held on Friday morning and the event ended with a harvest festival service followed by a bring and share lunch and a Songs of Praise service on Sunday.

RESIDENTS are urged to be vigilant about drug-related activities in their neighbourhoods and report their suspicions to police.

Police in Haverhill recently arrested and charged a 29-year-old man with producing cannabis plants, acting on information provided by concerned neighbours on the town's Chalkstone estate.

Sgt Sarah Bartley urged any residents with concerns about suspicious activities in their neighbourhoods to come forward with information, anonymously if they choose.

Sgt Bartley said three crack house closure orders at addresses in Haverhill in 2009 had dramatically reduced drug-related activities in the town, but it was important to stay alert to prevent the situation escalating again.

“We want people to be vigilant, and it is not just about the drugs, it is also the anti-social behaviour which affects people's quality of life, which is not acceptable.

Sgt Bartley said: “I think it did have a massive, positive impact on the town when we had three in such a short space of time.

“It sent such a strong message out that you can lose your home, and we would consider using it again if we felt it was necessary.

“It has reduced the problem, but it has not gone away. We want people to be vigilant, and it is not just about the drugs, it is also the anti-social behaviour which affects people's quality of life, which is not acceptable.

“If people see a lot of comings and goings, people staying for only a short period of time, undesirable people hanging about on the street, we would like them to get in touch.

“We will not drag them to court to give evidence – they don't have to give a name. We will seek other evidence of the activity going on and take action on it.”

Anyone who has concerns about drug-related activities can contact Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Paralympian and running club in awards spotlight

PARALYMPIAN wheelchair basketball player Caroline Maclean and Haverhill Running Club are enjoying awards glory.

Caroline, 35, from Haverhill, won the Sports Personality of the Year award for the second time at the 2011 St Edmundsbury Sports Awards.

One of the most experienced female basketball players in Great Britain, she has her sights firmly set on an amazing fourth Paralympic Games in London in 2012.

Caroline has represented Team GB in the Sydney, Athens and Beijing Paralympic Games.

The GB team chalked up a second straight victory over Germany at the BT Paralympic World Cup and a first ever gold medal in Manchester this year.

Championships, where the team collected a bronze medal. Paralympian Brian Alldis accepted the award on her behalf.

Haverhill Running Club won the Club of the Year, which was accepted by chairman Trevor Bunch.

Formed 12 years ago as a social group, the club now has 80 members of all abilities. During the past two years, the club has worked hard to improve the standard of coaching it offers.

The club is driving a project to set up permanently-marked running routes around Haverhill, aimed at encouraging community participation in running for fitness and for sport.

An exciting year at the club has seen 13 members qualify as Leaders in Running Fitness, which has enabled it to start running groups aimed specifically at beginners, an initiative which helped nearly 40 people to start running in a safe and supportive environment last year.

The club competes in races almost every week, representing both the club and the town around the region.

Trevor said: "I am very proud of the club and what we have achieved in the last 12 years and especially what we have achieved in the last two years in taking the club to the next level."

John Oakes of Haverhill

Running Club was also nominated for Sports Personality of the Year; Ben Warren of Haverhill Rugby Club Under 7s for Young Sports Personality of the Year; Haverhill Rovers Football Club for Club of the Year; Shirley Fowler and Kim Gregory of Haverhill Running Club for Coach of the Year; Samuel Ward Academy Girls Football Team for Junior Team of the Year; Tim Squires and TJS Snookerability, Haverhill and West Suffolk Tigers for Contribution to Disability Sport Award.

Crackdown continues

PARKING tickets have been handed out to 78 motorists in the past four weeks as police continue their campaign against illegally-parked cars in Haverhill town centre.

Earlier this year, the issue of cars illegally parked on the pavements and elsewhere in the High Street was identified as a priority for the town's police safer neighbourhood teams.

At an SNT meeting earlier this month, it was reported that more than 400 warnings were issued in the educational phase of the campaign, but only 15 tickets had been issued once the enforcement phase began.

Yellow lines in the street had to be repainted, as they were so faint that parking restrictions could not be enforced. However, those attending the SNT meeting insisted that the issue should continue to be a policing priority and that more tickets should be issued.

Sgt Sarah Bartley of Haverhill Police said said: "Some people are very supportive of it, like a woman who said she can never push her pushchair along the pavement because of parked cars. Others say haven't we got anything better to do, but we try to explain that it is not our choice. It is what the public want us to do, so we will continue doing it."

Mum makes vaccine plea

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MUM whose son survived a serious attack of meningitis is calling on the Government to push for a vaccine.

Gail Truman from Haverhill knows first-hand of the devastating effects of the disease.

She said: "My son Jack became ill with meningococcal meningitis during his first-year exams at university in 2006.

"Unfortunately his symptoms were not diagnosed immediately and I was concerned enough to go and collect him and take him to hospital.

"He was very ill for an unbearable three to four days, not knowing what the outcome was going to be.

"He had severe problems with his eyesight for a couple of weeks but now seems fully recovered. Early diagnosis is absolutely vital and we were so lucky with the final outcome so I am supporting this campaign to ensure everyone is aware of the dangers of the disease and to ensure every child is vaccinated against Men B."

Meningitis and septicaemia are deadly diseases that can strike anyone without warning, killing one in 10 and leaving a quarter of survivors with lifelong after-effects.

Mrs Truman is supporting the Meningitis Research Foundation (MRF)'s campaign Counting the Cost of Meningitis, which shows the shocking lifelong financial costs of surviving meningitis and septicaemia and is calling on the Government to pursue the widest and earliest implementation of vaccines to prevent the diseases.

Christopher Head, chief executive of MRF said: "Counting the Cost of Meningitis shows how those who survive can struggle to come to terms with the impact of these horrific diseases which change lives forever.

"Our campaign makes practical recommendations to Government to reduce the burden of disease through vaccination in the UK.

"Vaccination provides peace of mind for every parent across the country and to date over 4,000 people agree with us and have signed our online petition at www.meningitis.org/sign.

"I appeal to the people of Haverhill to sign our petition too and join the fight against meningitis and septicaemia."

MRF has also launched a video to support its petition this week to help generate support for the campaign and raise awareness of the importance of vaccination.

Visit www.meningitis.org to view and share with family and friends.

Ordeal over: Jack Truman and proud mother Gail at his graduation after his recovery from meningitis.

Hearing group in party call

FUNDRAISING coffee and cake parties are to be held next month in support of family, friends and others with hearing loss.

Haverhill area residents are asked to host parties, which can be big or small, and can be held at workplaces, schools, homes, and church halls.

They should be held on or around October 8, the national day for hard of hearing people.

Those interested in holding a party should contact Hearing Link for a party information pack at fundraising@hearinglink.org.

Further information is available on Hearing Link's website www.hearinglink.org.

Meeting aims to address problem of homelessness

AN event aimed at answering any question to do with housing in St Edmundsbury is being held on Wednesday, October 5.

The event called Housing? What Housing? will take place at the apex in Bury St Edmunds from 11am to 7pm, bringing together a wide range of organisations who offer housing, advice and support to people with a housing need or a housing problem.

There is a limited amount of social housing available to meet needs and demand is growing as homelessness rises.

Cllr Anne Gower, St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for housing, said: "Being in housing need is incredibly stressful and hearing about the scarcity of social housing doesn't help.

"The borough council is organising this event to put people in touch with diverse housing providers and agencies, so they can get housing information and guidance on all the options and services available.

"For example, difficulty in finding the deposit to rent from a private landlord can be addressed with the council offering a 'bond', or a noise problem can be investigated by environmental health."

The event is open to all and no appointment is necessary. Box of Frogs street theatre company will providing thought-provoking scenes.

Nothing has been done at Bartlow Crossroads

Sir, following the tragic car crash on the A1307 ('New safety fears after fatal crash, Weekly News, September 22), I was reminded of the letter I sent to you in 2008 following the tragic death of a second teenager at Cardinals Green. The road at this junction has now, thankfully, been improved. However, I also made mention of the Bartlow Crossroads junction: "Bartlow crossroads is another area desperate for improvement. "Last week, my daughter, while waiting to turn right towards Bartlow, had to swerve back into the traffic to avoid a car coming towards her overtaking the traffic coming down the hill from Haverhill. "How many other near misses like this happen on this 'death trap' road every day? On pulling out onto the A1307 I always feel I am taking my life into my own hands as the cars speeding down the hill are on you so quickly."

However, nothing has been done to improve the Bartlow Crossroads, in the three and a half years since I wrote that letter.

I also forwarded it to James Paice MP and the council – and nothing has been done.

How many more tragic road crashes must we see at this junction before they put in a much needed roundabout or traffic lights?

STORY: New safety fears after fatal crash, Weekly News, September 22

When will people realise that it is not the road but the drivers!! I was on my way to Cambridge on Sunday and was coming to the end of the dual carriage way when an idiot decided to take his chance and over take when a car was coming in the opposite direction!!!! So please understand it is not the road but the stupidity of some of the drivers, which in turn causes grief and hardship to those innocent drivers who abide by the law

Comment by bubbles

In the absence of any sensible comment or action on the part of Cambs CC or the Police, please, please anyone needing to cross the A1307 at this junction, just WAIT until it is absolutely clear in BOTH directions because there is nowhere to SAFELY stop between carriageways. Cambs CC and Chief Constable, SORT IT or else!!!!!!

Comment by Jeff Smith

My heart goes out to the families of the lost. I completely understand what you are going through, as it was my boys lost 3 years ago. I wish I could say something to ease your pain, just know there are people who do understand. The signs were put up after I lost my boys and yes it has helped but the road is not always to blame sometimes it is the way the drivers use and abuse it. My love goes to you all at this time and for the times to come.

Thank you for backing band

Sir, your local brass band, Haverhill Silver, represented the town in the first section finals of the National Brass Band Championships last weekend, held in Cheltenham. The band were London and Southern Counties Area first section champions in March.

This involved a lot of extra rehearsal and required much financial fundraising to cover the costs of us getting them there, well in excess of £2,500. This was a competition of winners and although the band weren't in the winning frame, Haverhill Silver gave a very creditable performance of Verdi's The Force of Destiny under the directorship of Mark Ager.

The band would like to thank Haverhill Town Council, St Edmundsbury Council, Suffolk County Council, individual councillors, IFF, Herberts, Harrison's solicitors and the Friends of HSB and others who helped terrifically in softening this financial burden. Band members were also involved in many fundraising events.

The band are joined by the Youth and Community Band in the Arts Centre this Sunday (October 2) in a concert which will include The Force of Destiny.

Please come to hear what your local champion band are capable of! Next year they will be competing in the National Premier (Championship) section once more after being promoted.

I've stopped buying petrol in Haverhill due to prices charged by 'cartel'

Sir, I agree with everything that Meg Tucker has said about the cost of fuel at Sainsbury's and other petrol stations within Haverhill ('Petrol stations pumping us for extra cash in Haverhill?' Weekly News, September 22).

I have stopped buying my £200-per-month fuel from this town – I wait until I go to Bury then fill up. The other thing that annoys me is when Tesco offers the 5p off per litre when you spend a certain amount of money in the store. What good is that 5p per litre when you have to do either a 30-plus round trip to Cambridge or a 40-mile round trip to Bury? What you spent doing those trips has just wiped away the 5p.

What we need in this town is competition, not a cartel.

Bright future on the cards for MP

TORY backbencher Matthew Hancock is tipped to go far – by a special edition of the Top Trumps game.

The West Suffolk MP is the only Parliamentarian from the region to feature in the cards launched by Sky News to coincide with the main political parties' conference season.

He gets a nine out of 10 for career potential, beaten only by Prime Minister David Cameron, and level with Chancellor George Osborne.

Mr Hancock used to be Mr Osborne's chief of staff and is described as "a cerebral member of the Notting Hill set" on the card. He gets six out of 20 for "gaffability", and a 50 per cent score for "fanciability".

Other scores are the number of Twitter followers – 1,395, in Mr Hancock's case – and the number of debates attended this session – 72.

Praised as "earnest and clever", Mr Hancock's card adds: "His casual attire includes some rather interesting jumpers and he once worked as a horse catcher at Aintree."

Tipped for the top: Matthew Hancock.

Driver swapped seats mid-chase

A DISQUALIFIED driver swapped seats with his passenger during a police chase, a court heard.

Jonathan Jolly, 36, of Dunsey Wood Close, Haverhill, denied dangerous driving and driving while disqualified but was found guilty by a jury.

Jolly and a passenger in a heavily-loaded van had swapped seats as police officers attempted to stop the vehicle, the jury was told. They were driving at 30mph at the time.

Patricia Doggett, prosecuting, said a police officer had seen Jolly driving before the switch.

Ipswich Crown Court saw a video recording made from the police car of the incident in which the van, which was carrying scrap metal, was swerving about the road.

After Jolly and his passenger swapped seats the van went on to be involved in collisions with three cars. Finally it hit a lamppost and two men were seen running away.

The incident took place in Sudbury, and on the A134 near Sudbury, last November. Jolly was arrested almost a fortnight later by a police officer who recognised him as being the van driver.

When interviewed, Jolly told police it was a case of "mistaken identity".

In court, he continued to claim that he had not been at the wheel, stating he had not even been in the van.

He accepted that at the time he had been a disqualified driver.

Giving evidence, Paul Merchant, currently serving a four-and-a-half year sentence for burglary, told the jury he had been a passenger in the van and claimed that Jolly had not been driving or present.

Merchant said he evaded police by hiding in a wheeley bin.

Judge John Holt told Jolly he would be sentenced at a later date.

Cole a hot prospect in kitchen challenge

NEWLY qualified Royal Navy chef Alexander Cole is already entering the high-pressure arena of competition cooking.

Alexander, 19, from Haverhill, was due to have his skills tested at the annual Armed Forces culinary challenge, Exercise Joint Caterer this week.

The teenager joined the Royal Navy in November 2010 and last week completed his 26-week defence chefs course at the Defence Maritime Logistics School (DMLS), based at HMS Raleigh in Cornwall. He was set to be among the Royal Navy team competing against their counterparts in the Army and the RAF during the event held at the Sandown Park Race Course in Surrey.

Budding submariner Alexander was entered into the junior section of the competition. He has just 30 minutes to prepare, cook and present two plated portions of the dish of his choice – herb-crusted lamb with mustard mash, cream carrot puree and sautéed leeks. He has been preparing for the competition under the watchful eye of the instructors at the DMLS.

The former pupil of Samuel Ward Upper School said: "I'm really nervous yet very excited about the competition. I've been receiving lots of help from the well seasoned chefs within the school."

The Royal Navy team is made up of both junior and experienced chefs and stewards from across the fleet.

Last year the Naval Service Culinary Arts Team produced the best naval performance for nine years, collecting an impressive 94 awards. This year the team is looking to build on that success, with the ultimate objective being to go one better and win the Champions Trophy.

Exercise Joint Caterer is now in its 11th year. It is the flagship event for Armed Forces chefs, caterers and stewards giving them a unique opportunity to demonstrate their skills in a highly-charged competitive environment.

Games help call to teens

TEENAGERS in Suffolk are being offered a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to get involved with the 2012 London Olympic Games.

More than 2,000 16-18-year-olds from across the region will be recruited under the London 2012's Young Games Maker Volunteering Programme.

The programme aims to inspire young people to choose sport and leave a volunteering legacy. It will allow young people to experience sport at its highest level and encourage those not necessarily involved in sport now to participate and develop their skills.

Suffolk County Council is working with Young Suffolk, Suffolk Sport and Suffolk Volunteering Federation to create a volunteering legacy in the county from the London 2012 Games. The council is keen to build on the success of the existing 2012 Volunteering Legacy Project and continue rising to the Olympic challenge.

Suffolk county councillor Kathy Gosling said: "To really get up close and personal with the athletes themselves and be part of the main event is phenomenally exciting and gives a real sense of purpose and achievement."

Applications are invited from recognised organisations such as Get Set Network schools and colleges, sports clubs, youth clubs and community or voluntary groups working with young people to put forward more than 250 teams of young volunteers.

The opportunities include assisting with activities from Aquatics to Taekwondo and Athletics to Beach Volleyball. Each role is for a team of young people, led by a team leader who already works with them – for example, a youth leader, instructor or teacher.

The application process opened on September 22 and closes on October 31, with interviews and selection taking place between November this year and February 2012.

For further information, contact Mike McCarthy of Suffolk 2012 Volunteering Legacy Project on (01473) 275196, or visit www.london2012.com/young-games-makers.

We are listening

As Leader of Suffolk County Council I want to hear from you.

Before we make the really important spending decisions that will affect all of us across the county, I believe it's vital we take time to listen to you: the people who live and work in Suffolk.

We will also be engaging with businesses, MPs, other local councils and voluntary organisations as part of our budget-setting process.

As councillors, we have some very difficult decisions to make. We have to save £50m over the next two years. To do that we will need to change the way we work.

I am determined that we do all we can to protect our valued front-line services. This will mean that, as far as possible, savings must come from cuts in bureaucracy, back-office functions and by redesigning the way these services are provided.

As we make these decisions, it is important for me to know what you as council tax-payers think about the services we provide, and which areas you think are most important.

We have designed this consultation to be as simple and straightforward as possible to make it easy for you to give us your views.

There are a number of ways to get involved. You can:

- Visit our website www.suffolk.gov.uk/WeAreListening
- Fill in a paper copy of our survey (available in libraries) and return it using the freepost address
- Ring our dedicated phone line 0845 603 1842
- Talk to your local councillor - you can find out who this is at www.writetothem.com

By working together, we can achieve the best for Suffolk and I would encourage you to take part in the consultation.

This is your chance to have your say about the decisions that affect you.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely

Cllr Mark Bee
Leader of Suffolk County Council

Building for the future!

A GREENHOUSE made of plastic bottles and a snake mirror were just some of the ideas used to create a new outdoor area at a primary school.

Staff members from Kier Construction spent the day at Kedington Primary School on Friday on a team-building exercise, which helped create an attractive new facility for the school.

Materials for the project were provided by the school from an Early Years grant and the volunteers worked with Year 4 pupils, their teacher Karen Sheargold and teaching assistant Tracy Hannan to plan the area. Parents and other pupils were invited to admire their work.

Visitors flock to new school

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

VISITORS got the chance to look around a new primary school – and see pupils at work.

To celebrate the opening of the new school in Greenfields Way, Haverhill, which first opened its doors in June, Clements Primary held an open morning on Monday.

Parents and others from the local community, including the local over-60s club members, were invited to see the new school at work.

Year 6 pupils showed people around the building and grounds.

Headteacher Lesley Farrow said the school now had 230 pupils aged between 3 and 11, after expanding to accommodate Year 5 and 6 pupils who would previously have attended middle schools which have now closed.

She said: "We had a really good turnout of friends and family and members of the local community.

"It is a beautiful building, light and bright, with under-floor heating throughout and a beautiful hall with a sprung wooden floor.

"It combines the advantages of a modern building, such as a sedum roof and a bio-mass boiler, with right kind of learning environment for children and the teaching staff.

"The children love it; they love the space outside and the extra facilities inside like the library and the ITC areas.

"Today was a chance to show our new school to everyone in the morning and in the afternoon we had an assembly to say thank you to everyone involved in the project."

Business of the year.

Jan speaks out at high-profile forum

TOP businesswoman Jan Cavelle was one of the key speakers at the first ever joint West Suffolk Chambers of Commerce event.

The former President of the British Chambers of Commerce, Neville Reyner, also addressed the event for Bury St Edmunds, Haverhill and Newmarket chambers of commerce, at Ickworth West Wing.

Mr Reyner, who is chairman of the Greater Cambridge and Greater Peterborough LEP, gave an update on the organisation and its planned area of work. He was joined by Patrick Gihana Mulenga, Commercial Attaché to the Rwandan Embassy.

Rwanda's top athletes will be using Bury St Edmunds Leisure Centre as their pre-Games training camp for the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games next year.

Jan Cavelle, who completed the lineup of speakers, runs a furniture manufacturing business in Haverhill which supplies items to the top end of the interior design market all over the world.

In addition, she is a UK FEA (Female Entrepreneurship Ambassador), one of 250 over 22 countries in the EU, works as an "Enterprise Superstar" for the Eastern Hub initiative in Ipswich and has just launched Enterprising Acorns, a StartUp Local scheme aimed initially at the Haverhill area.

She gave a speech on how businesses can survive the recession and come out stronger the other side. Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, closed the event and the business festival finale.

School bids to build

PLANS for new buildings at a school which recently became an academy have been submitted to planners. Applications for a new dining hall and kitchen building, as well as standalone modular buildings to form two classrooms and a two-bay canteen at Samuel Ward Academy in Chalkstone way, Haverhill, have been received by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Blankets are binned

MORE than 60 highly dangerous electric blankets from across the county have failed safety checks by Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service and Suffolk Trading Standards. With help and support from Age UK and the Electrical Safety Council, nearly 350 blankets were tested between 5 to 14 September across Haverhill, Bury St Edmunds, Ipswich and Lowestoft. Owners were given replacements.

'Please keep on recycling!'

A TOP councillor has urged people to keep recycling – even though the dark nights are drawing in and centres across Suffolk are changing to winter opening hours from Saturday.

Suffolk County Council's 11 sites, including the one in Coupals Road, Haverhill, will close an hour earlier from Monday to Saturday, opening from 9am to 4pm instead of 9am to 5pm. The Sunday hours remain the same at 10am to 4pm.

The opening times for six community-run sites, including Newmarket, are not changing and will remain at 10am to 4pm.

Winter is traditionally a period in which people use the sites less, so the council's message is to encourage people to continue using them, including the six community facilities.

Suffolk is one of the top recycling areas in the country,

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

with more than half its household waste recycled. The county council aims to do even better and to get to 60 per cent by 2015.

Cllr Lisa Chambers, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for waste, said: "During the autumn and winter months, we tend to see fewer visits to household waste centres. But come rain or shine, I can assure people that they are still there offering the same service as they do in the summer.

"It's vitally important that we keep using the sites all year round because we're good at recycling in Suffolk and have set ourselves challenging targets to build on that.

"Whether it's one of Suffolk County Council's 11 facilities or the six operated by our community partners, our message is simple. The sites are open and ready to recycle your unwanted goods."

Winner: Benjamin Harris with his smart iPod Shuffle, which he won in a school holiday prize draw at Haverhill Leisure Centre. CP

Benjamin celebrates after iPod prize win

PRIMARY School pupil Benjamin Harris, 7, has won his own iPod Shuffle in a competition at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

Benjamin, from Piper's Close, Haverhill, who attends Thurlow Primary School, was thrilled when his mum, Amanda, told him that he was the winner of a school holiday prize draw.

The centre ran the competition to win one of the portable music players to promote its school holiday camps in August. His mother, who runs Amanda Julia Couture in Haverhill, said: "Benjamin is thrilled to bits with his prize. We love listening to music at home and now he has the chance to pick his own favourites for his iPod."

The October half term programme includes the centre's popular holiday camps, where children can take part in athletics, cycling, tennis, basketball, football and laser blast.

There is also a chance to make Halloween hats and masks, pumpkin-carving, making a guy, a spooky ball and a coffee morning fancy dress event. The new October half term programme is now available to pick up at the leisure centre or can be downloaded from the centre's website at www.acleisure.com.

'Early-onset Alzheimer's hit my wonderful man at 43'

Not long married, Sarah King and her husband were looking forward to a happy family life together. But within a few short years, Andrew was unable to walk, talk or feed himself. In a heartbreaking interview with Alice Ryan, Sarah tells how early-onset Alzheimer's stole Andrew away from her at a devastatingly young age – and how proud she is that, despite everything, he still hasn't given up on life.

Love story: top right, Andrew and Sarah at their "fairytale white wedding" at Linton Village Church and, inset, as the couple are today.

TURN the clock back 10 years and Andrew King was living an almost charmed life. A scientist by profession, he had a great job. He was close to his family and had a huge network of friends. And he'd not long married Sarah, the wife he adored; the couple were trying for a family of their own.

Then, out of the blue, everything changed. Andrew became depressed. He stopped coping at work: forced to quit his career as a scientist, he took a job stacking supermarket shelves. He kept getting speeding fines and pranging the car; eventually, he wrote it off altogether.

Though neither he nor Sarah knew it, Andrew was showing the signs of early-onset Alzheimer's. Officially diagnosed five years ago, aged just 43, the decline in his health was swift and sharp: now 48, Andrew is in full-time care. Unable to walk, talk or feed himself, he's doubly incontinent and can barely move.

"The carers think he still recognises me – apparently he looks round when he hears my voice – but I'm not sure whether he knows me or not," admits Sarah. "To be honest, Andrew's quite literally like a big baby."

"When he was diagnosed, we were told he had five to eight years; the five years are already up. Part of me wants him to live forever, and part of me wants it all over with."

"I'm quite scared of what life is going to be like without him: at the moment, my life is structured round him. And then there's the being a widow thing... At the moment, no matter how hard things are, I've still got a husband."

"It might sound strange, but I'm very proud of Andrew. I'm proud of the fact he's still hanging in there: he hasn't given up. And he's stayed true to the man he was. He was such a lovely, gentle person – and he's still lovely and gentle now."

Sarah, who lives in Linton, said: "I want people to know that Alzheimer's affects young people, as well as old. And I want them to realise that it doesn't just affect individuals, it affects whole families."

Sarah and Andrew met in 1997. She had moved to Cambridge from her native Devon to work for the Ministry of Defence in Waterbeach. Joining the local branch of the Interspersary Club, she met Andrew at a social event; despite thinking he was 'a real scruff bag', there was an instant attraction.

"I developed a bit of a crush on him," laughs Sarah. "He came back to mine for coffee one night and we ended up talking about what we were looking for in an ideal partner. We agreed it was a friend who made us laugh."

"After that night, I sent him a silly note. Then I felt a bit embarrassed and was quite prepared to forget all about it."

"But Andrew called me up and said 'Shall we go for a drink and sort this thing out?'... Six weeks later we were talking about getting engaged."

The couple went on their first date in the April, got engaged in the July, and by August had moved in together. A fairytale white wedding – at Linton Village Church, then Chilford Hall – soon followed.

"It all happened quite quickly, yet it felt so natural. I can remember asking one of my friends, when she got married, how she knew her husband was The One. She said 'You just know' – and that's so true. I just knew."

"Andrew had a great sense of humour, a lovely big smile... He was straightforward, honest and kind. He was just such a nice man."

A year after their marriage, the couple started trying for a baby, but with no success. After having numerous tests, they opted for fertility treatment; undergoing a type of IVF known as ICSI (intracytoplasmic sperm injection), they agreed to have three rounds, stopping when Sarah hit 40.

"Up until I met Andrew I was never bothered about getting married and having children. But meeting him changed all that."

The first attempt at IVF failed. And then the treatment was put on hold – because Andrew's health had already begun to deteriorate.

"To start with, we thought he was depressed. His granddad died, and he was very close to his granddad. Then he lost his own father."

"Things were getting harder for him at work. And his driving went a bit funny: there were a lot of wing mirrors being clipped and he got speeding fine after speeding fine – he got three in a row on the Elizabeth Way bridge in Cambridge."

"At the time I remember thinking 'If you really loved me, you wouldn't be doing these things.'"

Unable to hold down his high-flying job as a geneticist, Andrew took a job stacking shelves in a supermarket instead. But even that proved too much: the very day he was diagnosed with dementia, bosses called him into an emergency meeting – and said his work was simply not up to scratch, he either had to resign or be sacked.

Having been such a capable man, Sarah says Andrew found losing control over his life, his mind and body very tough at times. "In the end he wrote off the car, so I did all the driving. We'd be going along and he was happy as Larry one minute; the next I'd look round and he was in tears."

It was a letter from Andrew's mum that ultimately led to the dementia diagnosis. "We went to a family party and he was limping quite badly – the limp was, it turned out, another symptom; a sign that the signals from his brain just weren't working. She wrote us a letter saying she could see so many worrying changes in him."

Subsequently referred to the memory clinic at Addenbrooke's, Andrew underwent a wide range of tests. In September 2006, doctors said he was suffering from a form of dementia; in November, they confirmed it was early-onset Alzheimer's disease.

The most common form of dementia, Alzheimer's is an incurable, degenerative and, ultimately, terminal condition. Caused by so-called 'plaques' and 'tangles' in the brain – damaged neurons, which lead to the death of brain cells – it results in a raft of symptoms: confusion, memory loss, mood swings, impaired language skills and, eventually, the breakdown of basic bodily functions.

The diagnosis was, says Sarah, a horrible shock. Dealing with her husband's rapid decline was a challenge, both emotionally and in practical terms. "I was working in London then. Andrew became doubly incontinent and I'd come home at night to find he hadn't made it to the toilet in time; messes all over the place."

"His behaviour wasn't always easy. He'd do the most frustrating things. I clearly remember, just before he was diagnosed, yelling at him right in the middle of Saffron Walden. I have no idea what had happened; now I look back and wish like anything I hadn't yelled..."

"It got to the stage where I couldn't go anywhere, even into the next room, without him following me. And I realised that I couldn't cope anymore."

Sarah made the decision for Andrew to go into full-time care. "Leaving him was so hard. It felt like I was leaving a part of myself behind. It took I don't know how many visits – months and months – for me to be able to drive off without having a little cry in the car."

Within two years of his diagnosis, Andrew couldn't walk or feed himself unaided and struggled to speak. Then, two and a half years ago, he stopped being able to eat at all; because of his young age, doctors agreed to fit a feeding tube. "If it wasn't for the tube, he wouldn't be here now," Sarah explains.

Sarah visits Andrew several times a week, every week, despite his care home being in March – an hour's drive away. It is, she admits, hard to see him as he is now: a shell of the man he used to be. The impact of Andrew's illness has been enormous not only for her, but for his whole family – especially his mother and siblings.

As a result of their abandoned IVF treatment, Sarah and Andrew still had two viable embryos on hold. "Andrew always said I should do what I wanted, but I didn't want to go ahead and try to get pregnant without him; I never wanted to be a parent on my own. So the embryos were donated to stem cell research."

"The fact I won't ever have children is beginning to feel more real now, not least because I'm about to be 44. I know I'm going to be a widow without any children. I'll never get to see our children grow up, leave school, get married and become a grandmother."

"For a long time, it's felt like my life has been on pause. I couldn't bring myself to sort out his clothes, or clear out any of his things. Now I am trying to plan things – go on holiday, go out with friends – and make another life for myself."

"I wouldn't wish this on anybody, yet I wouldn't wish for a life without Andrew in it. Nothing changes the fact I'm still very proud to say this wonderful man is my husband."

My love affair with cooking

Welcome to the launch of a new regular column by Haverhill chef Hannah Jones, who will be sharing recipes and highlighting the very best of local produce. Hannah, who lives in Eastern Avenue with partner Matthew and young children Georgia and Jamie, is a former West Suffolk College student and chef at The Plough in Hundon and The Swan in Lavenham. She runs her own business making bespoke cakes and pastries, www.hannahsbuns.co.uk.

MY love for cooking took me by surprise.

I am a young mum of two delightful children, a girl of 8 and a little boy of 4. I wasn't much of a cook in the beginning, and found it difficult trying to think of different meals to cook for the family.

Anyone with small children will know how fussy they can be. You can spend ages cooking something nice and healthy and often they won't even try it. Fortunately, my partner always liked my cooking. I got hooked on watching the TV chefs, from Jamie Oliver to Gordon Ramsay. This was the start of my love affair with cooking.

I signed up for a full-time college course that would give me the tools I needed to find a good job. I decided to nurture my love of cooking and train to become a chef.

I studied at college for a year taking my NVQ level 2 in cooking. I loved every minute of it and did well. I even went to work at a butcher's and a bakery as a volunteer so I could see how our meat was prepared.

I attended two pasta-making courses, one at Jamie Oliver's in London and the other recently in Clavering, to perfect my skills in filled pasta.

While at college I had to maintain part-time work in a professional kitchen. I worked at The Plough in Hundon for 14 months working on the desserts and starters. This was my first opportunity in a professional kitchen.

Once my college course ended I was buzzing – I needed to explore and learn all I could about cooking.

I was very fortunate to be offered a position in a high-profile, prestigious hotel. The Swan at Lavenham boasts a four-star service and two rosettes. It was a fantastic learning curve for me as I was able to watch and learn from master chefs. I learnt to make truffles and did a master-class in desserts. I was solely in charge of breakfasts and afternoon teas and pastries.

In May I won a competition in The Sun newspaper to work in Rick Stein's fish restaurant in Padstow, Cornwall. I was thrilled at the fantastic opportunity to cook fresh seafood. I really enjoyed my time there and learned so much.

It has been a wonderful journey and one I wish I had begun sooner. I have learnt a lot. I now make and prepare all family meals from scratch. The children are brilliant – they too have adapted with me and will try anything I make now. We have learned so much together.

Although we may still have the occasional takeaway or the odd beans on toast, we now eat much better. I know exactly what my children are eating. They too take pleasure in the food they eat, and I take comfort in the knowledge that I made it. Wherever and whenever possible I like to source my ingredients locally. It is my hope that I can share my passion for home cooking and using local produce with you.

I have recently started my own business making bespoke cakes and pastries. I will be selling some of my individually made cupcakes and other wares on the Haverhill market on Saturdays.

In the future, my plans are to open a patisserie where all the food sold is freshly made on the premises using the finest ingredients.

Hey, Jude

 Jennifer Shelton talks to Tracie Bennett, star of End of the Rainbow at the Cambridge Arts Theatre

FROM freezing Lancashire church halls to the bright lights of Broadway, via the cobbles of Coronation Street, Tracie Bennett's career has been a slow-burning success.

Known to many as the Street's feisty bride Sharon Gaskell, Bennett has recently burst afresh into the public eye with her unanimously acclaimed performance as Judy Garland in the celebrated West End show End of the Rainbow.

The plot homes in on the final weeks of Garland's life which, weighed down by a dependence on alcohol and prescription drugs, has grown ever more turbulent. Poised for another comeback, Garland has come to London to perform at the Talk of the Town with her latest, and youngest, fiancé in tow. Offering alternate insights into her private and public life, End of the Rainbow is a moving, epic portrait of a star in decline.

"She was an icon across the world from the age of 16. I don't know what that's like – nobody does," says Bennett. "Her mother, who was ambitious for her, was plying her with drugs from the age of eight."

"I do have empathy for her; some people just have that addictive gene and that can't be helped. I read an interview with Mickey Rooney recently who said they were all at it – these wonder drugs were coming in, there were no side-effects and everybody lost weight – but some just couldn't stop."

"I've seen people have a sip of wine before a performance, but I can hardly do it sober! To take a drink before is horrifying to me."

"So I feel sorry for her in one sense, and wonder if she couldn't have got help, but on the other hand, that's who these people are, and they're geniuses."

Get ready to rock

ROCK Night tomorrow sees the winners of Riffed, the Haverhill Battle of the Bands 2011 headlining at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Federal Black 40 have played support shows with the likes of Hawkwind, Soulfly, Black Spiders, and Foo Fighters project Jackson United. Their single, The One, was featured in Classic Rock Magazine's cover-mount CD and play listed on Bruce Dickinson's BBC 6 Music show. Support acts include Unit 9 and Umbrella Assassins, all from 8pm.

■ Join Soul Nation, a seven-piece band, for a night of 70s and 80s old-school funk, soul and disco on Saturday from 8pm to 1.30am. Expect to hear covers of tracks by The Temptations, George Benson, Shalamar, Marvin Gaye, Earth Wind and Fire, The Commodores and many more, with proceeds going to The Suffolk Befriending Scheme. All this plus an all-star cast of DJs.

■ Haverhill Silver Band and Haverhill Youth & Community Band share a concert of brass band music entitled Where There's Brass on Sunday at 7.30pm. The HYAC band will perform Verdi's The Force of Destiny.

■ Third Party Productions bring almost certainly the jolliest Dr Faustus you're ever likely to encounter to the Arts Centre on Thursday, October 6 at 7.30pm. This adaptation uses Marlowe's text as a starting point for a music hall-influenced performance of how Mephistopheles and Lucifer manipulate and make a fool of the soul-seller.

Manilow musical's heading for stage

TALENTED youngsters will dazzle audiences with showgirl glamour in their latest musical production.

An accomplished cast of youngsters aged 13-18 will introduce you to the world-famous Copacabana nightclub and dazzle you with showgirls, glamorous costumes, lively dancing and great songs.

Centre Stage Company is bringing Barry Manilow's Copacabana to Haverhill Arts Centre next month, with every single one of the songs in the musical handwritten by Manilow – and he even wrote the script himself.

Be sure to listen out for his global hit Copacabana as the story follows Stephen, an aspiring songwriter who is trying to compose a song about the world-famous club. His imagination takes him back to 1947, where we meet Lola from Tulsa who arrives in New York following her dream to become a star. But when Lola catches the eye of Rico Castelli, notorious gangster and rival nightclub owner, will Lola be able to escape his villainous grasp or will she be stuck under his spell forever?

Regular performer for the company, Lee Mayes, will be making his directorial debut in Copacabana. He will be the youngest director in Centre Stage history at 19. Karen Chinery is the musical director, this being her seventh musical since 2003 after gradually taking over the role from her father Les Ager.

Becca Neal joins the show as lead choreographer for her second time after the near sell-out of the exceptional musical All Shook Up in 2009.

The principal parts in the show are played by Lauren Chinery, Cian Harriss, Megan Brewster, Tom Bailey, Max Murphy and Lauren Reynolds.

■ Copacabana will be performed at Haverhill Arts Centre from Tuesday, October 18-Saturday, October 22, starting at 7.30pm, with a Saturday matinee beginning at 2.30pm. Tickets are on sale now, available at the Haverhill Arts Centre Box Office on (01440) 714140.

From roots in rep to West End royalty

■ From Page 22

Sadly, Garland's story of talent strangled by addiction is one which resurfaces time and again. Speaking before Amy Winehouse's death, Bennett brings up the singer's shambolic performance in Belgrade earlier this year.

"Did you see her?" she asks. "I just thought, 'God love you!'. Did you see her eyes? Gone. And you see that in certain footage of Judy."

Bennett's extensive research for the role of Garland – the Minnesota girl, born Frances Gumm, who became one of Hollywood's brightest stars – began 10 years ago when she was asked to play her in a smaller stage production, which today's hit grew out of.

"That play was the embryo of the play we're doing today," she explains. "Some of the scenes are similar, and we knew it was based on Judy Garland, but we were worried about libel issues. Anyway, (TV and theatre writer) Peter Quilter re-wrote it, and then the play emerged in the form it's in now."

End of the Rainbow opened in Northampton in 2010, before its successful West End run, which has seen Bennett catapulted from her rep theatre roots to West End royalty. Still, she remains fiercely humble, and as lacking in ego as her alter ego was full of it.

"I've done rep for 30 years and I'd never seen audiences standing up," she confesses, when I bring up the standing ovation she met with on opening night. "I was looking behind me, thinking the band might be doing something!"

"Then I realised, all that training and everything I'd gone through had finally been appreciated. So I've been thrilled with how everything's gone, but it's hard to believe sometimes."

"And it's not just me, it's not a one-woman show," she adds. "I'm delighted for everyone: the crew, the designer, the actors and the producers."

■ End of the Rainbow, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until October 1. For times and tickets call (01233) 503333 or visit www.cambridgeartstheatre.com.

The big film

TINKER TAILOR SOLDIER SPY certificate 15 127m

A NEW adaptation of Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy was always going to raise the hackles of John le Carré purists who adore John Irvin's 1979 mini-series starring Sir Alec Guinness. Tomas Alfredson's film could never compete on an equal footing with its Bafta award-winning predecessor. You can't achieve the same depth of character and plot development in two hours as you can in seven episodes of television. While scriptwriters Bridget O'Connor and Peter Straughan have truncated le Carré's novel, they retain the choking air of suspense that has us holding our breaths until the stunning final frame. Alfredson demonstrates the same virtuosity behind the camera as he did in the 2008 vampire story Let The Right One In. He frames every shot with precision, overhearing conversations in darkened hallways or through walls as if we are the spies, gathering evidence about the characters' wrong-doings.

Control (John Hurt), the chief of a 1970s British Secret Intelligence Service unit known as the Circus, learns that Russian counterpart Karla has placed a mole within the ranks. To unmask the traitor, Control despatches Jim Prideaux (Mark Strong) to Hungary but the agent is shot dead. So Control turns to Smiley (Gary Oldman), and shares intelligence about a possible double agent within the service. Soon after, Control takes his own life, leaving George Smiley to uncover the intrigues of the other Circus members: Percy Alleline (Toby Jones), Roy Bland (Ciaran Hinds), Toby Esterhase (David Dencik) and Bill Haydon (Colin Firth). Aided by the young, ambitious Peter Guillam (Benedict Cumberbatch), Smiley searches for clues, leading to Circus researcher Connie Sachs (Kathy Burke) and missing operative Ricki Tarr (Tom Hardy). Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy is intelligent filmmaking of the highest calibre, distinguished by tour de force performances from the predominantly British cast. Oldman doesn't utter a word for what seems like an eternity but he commands every frame and will be a frontrunner for a Best Actor Oscar. Cumberbatch is a worthy foil, not least in a heart-breaking scene when Peter makes the ultimate sacrifice Jones, Hinds, Firth et al are excellent in support and Burke scene-steals. Alfredson's directorial brio ensures that while our nerves are wracked, our eyes are dazzled with visually arresting scenes. Pacing is deliberately slow and some audiences, force-fed thrills at breakneck speed by Hollywood, may lose patience.

Living in the outdoors

DITCH your old traditional wood furniture, trusty barbecue and bowling green lawn to make way for carpets of blue, crystal rocking chairs and state-of-the-art cookers in your outside space of the future, which once used to be lovingly called a garden.

Modern garden carpets and outdoor rugs mingle with crystal-like rocking chairs in a riot of colours, oversized outdoor sofas and rubberised tables in the 24-hour garden theme at this year's Grand Designs Live at Birmingham's NEC.

The weird and wacky furniture is accompanied by what can only be described as altars to outdoor dining, featuring enormous barbecues equipped with in-built refrigerators underneath to keep all your beverages and food cold.

Out-of-this-world heating solutions, outdoor lighting and entertainment technology all feature at the heart of the exhibition in Grand Gardens, showing visitors how they can use their garden as an extra entertaining and living space all year round.

The core of the inspiration is The 24 Hour Garden, in which three interactive show gardens transform from day to night in minutes – an 'outdoor living room', complete with a 'floating carpet', the 'tranquil escape', with its unique boulder lounger and driftwood panelled walls, and the 'contemporary kitchen garden for entertaining', with its tea cup wall and bold dining set.

However, there's a limit to extending the season – and no one's going to be out there fine-dining in the pouring rain, agrees award-winning TV garden designer James Alexander-Sinclair, who will be discussing The 24 Hour Garden at this year's show.

"The point of 24-hour gardening is not so much sitting in it, but looking at it. You can sit in your sitting room and power a switch and there you have it."

Does he approve of outdoor garden carpet? There's a large pause followed by a snigger.

"I'm not quite sure what the point of it is," he concedes.

"Outdoor carpet's a marvellous idea if you like outdoor hoovering. But it's part of the idea of the garden being an extra room to the house."

However, he's more open minded to new-fangled furniture making its way into the great outdoors.

"There's something rather wonderful about taking bits of inside outside. I remember one lunch party where we just took all the furniture outside and put it on the lawn. It was weird, wonderful and exciting."

Alexander-Sinclair comes up with somewhat more conventional ways of enjoying your garden all year round, such as placing winter-flowering plants with strong scents like Sarcococca confusa or winter-flowering honeysuckle (Lonicera fragrantissima) near your front door.

"You will catch the scent as you fumble for your front door key – and that is using your garden in the winter.

"Lighting certainly extends the life of the garden as seasons change, so you are not just looking at plants but the effect of light on plants when planning your garden for the year.

"You can sit there with the fire blazing and if you light your garden properly you can see all the skeletons and shadows of your garden, which extends the life of your garden, as does a pond with a fountain with a light in it."

In winter, clipped hedges such as yew and box look fantastic, even in frost.

"Anything clipped and architectural, with crisp lines, looks good in winter. In summer plants are diaphanous, fluffy and wafting about. It's like people. In summer we all wander about in pretty, floaty things, but in winter we are wrapped up

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.

New Interceptor on way

Much-loved icon to be recreated in UK

A NEW version of a much-loved sports car is to be produced on the site of one of the UK's most famous motor plants, it has been announced.

UK automotive company CPP Global Holdings had already said it was bringing manufacturing back to Jaguar's former Browns Lane site in Coventry.

Yesterday, CPP said it would engineer, develop and build an all-new Jensen Interceptor, with deliveries to customers beginning in 2014.

The announcement is a further boost to the UK motor industry following yesterday's news that Jaguar Land Rover was investing £355 million to build low-emission engines at a business park near Wolverhampton in the West Midlands, potentially creating thousands of new jobs.

A much-admired GT model, the Jensen Interceptor was originally built between 1966 and 1976.

CPP said a team of Coventry-based design consultants employed by the Jensen brand's owners, Healey Sports Cars Switzerland Ltd, had completed the design of the new Interceptor, which has already gained "significant customer interest".

The public unveiling of the Interceptor is planned for late 2012, with deliveries starting in 2014. Annual production numbers and pricing are yet to be confirmed.

Brendan O'Toole, founder and co-owner of CPP, said: "I started my career by restoring bodies and components for classic British sports cars, so for CPP to take the lead role in reviving this iconic brand is very exciting for the business, and for me personally.

"The Jensen design team has respected and honoured the great heritage and attributes of the original Interceptor, while injecting a contemporary edge and advanced technologies that will ensure it appeals to the passionate, discerning motoring enthusiast of today."

CPP, which already has five existing facilities in Coventry, owns the Bowler off-road vehicle company and is negotiating to acquire sports car company Spyker.

It is purchasing 23 acres at Browns Lane from regional development agency Advantage West Midlands.

Keen pricing for Vauxhall's new Zafira Tourer

THE entry-level version of the new Vauxhall Zafira Tourer will undercut the price of its main rival, the Ford S-Max, by £1,200.

Despite the cost-cutting, the 138bhp Zafira Tourer ES 1.8 will come equipped with an excellent range of kit as standard, including air conditioning, DAB radio, cruise control, MP3 connections, six airbags, a seven-speaker sound system, active headrests and the handy Flex7 seating found in the smaller Zafira.

Longer, wider and more expensive than the Zafira, the Zafira Tourer is designed to be Vauxhall's premier people-mover,

The new Vauxhall Zafira Tourer: 'Overwhelmingly airy' interior.

with higher levels of luxury, space and equipment. It uses 'key components' from the Insignia, which seem to include the basic chassis layout.

The Insignia's platform is a large one, so it's no surprise that the Zafira Tourer is described by Vauxhall as "overwhelmingly airy" inside. On the outside, it's 19cm longer than a standard Zafira.

More emphasis is being placed on safety in the Tourer, with a plethora of driver-assist systems making a first appearance in the new model.

Traffic Sign Recognition,

Side Blind Spot Alert and Advance Park Assist – which helps drivers find an adequate parking space and guides them in to it – are among potential highlights, but they are likely to be cost options.

There will be 1.8-litre and turbocharged 1.4-litre petrol engines, alongside a 2.0-litre diesel engine with three different power outputs. One of the diesels is an EcoFlex version that emits 119g/km of CO2, reducing running costs.

The Ford S-Max is priced from £22,295.

Jetta wins the 'Towcar of Year' title

THE Volkswagen Jetta Sport 2.0TDI DSG took the top honour in its price Class and went on to be voted overall winner of the 29th Caravan Club Towcar of the Year Competition.

It was judged the winner by a panel of 11 judges who applauded its suave design, its practicality as a caravanning family car and its great performance when towing in a variety of situations.

Held, as in previous years, at the Millbrook Proving Ground in Bedfordshire, the Competition attracted 30 entrants.

Class wins in the Competition also went to the Skoda Superb Estate Elegance 2.0 DSG; the Volkswagen Touareg Escape 3.0 V6 TDI and the Volvo V60 D5 AWD Volvo Ocean Race.

From these Class winners the sleek, stylish and very capable Volkswagen Jetta Sport emerged as the overall victor.

The results of the competition were announced at The Caravan Club Towcar of the Year Awards ceremony at the Royal Automobile Club in London on Wednesday.

Special guest, former Formula 1 driver Johnny Herbert, attended the testing regime at Millbrook and then presented the prized Class awards to representatives from the winning manufacturers at the Awards ceremony.

Johnny Herbert says: "It was a real eye-opener being at Millbrook seeing all the cars being put through their paces, they really are put to the towing test."

Of course, producing a good car for towing isn't just about having lots of torque and large door mirrors. Because the very business of towing a caravan or trailer requires extra concentration and demands lower average speeds, making journeys longer – all of which puts extra strain on the driver.

The Towcar of the Year awards, now in their 30th year, are not so much about trophy winning, more an invaluable and a definitive guide for members of the Caravan Club.

There are two parts to the judging, and two sets of judges. The first, caravanability – a word which doesn't yet appear in any

English dictionary but perfectly summarises the testing and measuring of the competing cars' load space, cargo access, seating, towball and cable anchorage, nose-weight, and operating costs.

Furthermore, to ensure all the cars compete on a 'level playing field', ballast is then added to replicate the weight of an average family, and their luggage.

Second, it was the turn of the driving judges. With each car hitched to the same model of Bailey caravan, acceleration, stability and emergency braking could be performed in the safe environment on Millbrook's high-speed bowl.

The cars' traction and handling was further tested on the Alpine pass – a secluded ribbon of twisting tarmac with heroic inclines and taxing descents.

After all the exercises are completed, marks are then awarded, with the highest scoring cars taking the honours in their individual price classes.

From the list of class winners the judges all then vote on their personal choice for Towcar of the Year.

The class winners all delivered strongly in the various tests, but the overall prize went to the Volkswagen Jetta Sport 2.0-litre TDI DSG – hardly surprising as it combines refinement, comfort, sound driving dynamics and genuine kerb appeal with the obvious diesel power and its super-smart DSG transmission.

Seat supports TyreSafe's bid to obtain winter tyres

SPORTY car maker Seat may be synonymous with its sunny Spanish homeland but here in the UK, as another potentially tough winter approaches, the Brand is supporting TyreSafe's campaign to highlight the major safety benefits of winter tyres.

October is Tyre Safety Month and Seat is backing the not-for-profit TyreSafe's campaign to make drivers aware of the significant benefits of fitting winter tyres to their vehicle.

After a number of hard winters in the UK in recent years, with temperatures plummeting and roads grinding to a halt as motorists struggled to cope with the ice and snow, the case for using winter tyres

Seat's network of more than 120 dealers nationwide is launching an extensive campaign to highlight both the benefits of these specialist tyres, and the ease with which they can be swapped for summer tyres.

Manufacturers explain that winter tyres really come into their own when the air temperature drops below seven degrees Celsius – not just when there's ice and snow lying on the road surface.

No matter what you drive, temperature is crucial to tyre performance. When the thermometer drops below 7°C the tread compound in standard tyres begins to harden and gives progressively less grip.

Winter tyres are made with a higher natural rubber content that keeps them softer and more flexible in cold weather conditions. They also have a different tread pattern which maintains their highly effective contact with the road for greater traction.

A squarer shoulder profile with defined shoulder-blocks helps winter tyres pull through tough conditions like ice and snow. The addition of sipes gives winter tyres extra 'edges' to grip, too, even on the most slippery surfaces.

Finally, the special tread pattern is particularly effective on snow, ice and slush. Snow sticks to itself better than rubber – narrow channels between the blocks trap snow in the tread, where it can 'stick' to the snow on the road to aid grip.

Seat is supporting the campaign with a brief demonstration video in which near-identical Seat Ibizas – one equipped with summer tyres and the other sporting winter rubber – are driven on an ice rink. It's available to view at www.seat.co.uk/content/uk/brand/en/service/accessories/winter-tyres.html.

When carrying out an emergency stop at just 15 mph the car with summer tyres took four metres longer to stop – almost a full vehicle length.

Stuart Jackson, chairman of TyreSafe, said: 'For any driver concerned about their safety on the road during the winter, our advice is simple: winter weather tyres are the safest option.'

He added: 'Take a look at the Seat demonstration movie and then you can make an informed choice about whether to fit them or not, but I'm sure most will agree that the results are very convincing – and the potential outcome is frightening.'

Nigel Griggs, head of after-sales at Seat UK, explained: 'The value of winter tyres really cannot be overestimated.'

'Research from one tyre manufacturer1 suggests drivers may be as much as six times more likely to have an accident in the winter than the summer, so waiting for the first snowfall before making the switch could be a major false economy.'

'The time to act is now, and Seat dealers are fully prepared to help owners choose not only exactly the right winter tyre for their vehicle but also to handle the fitting process and even suggest transport options for their summer tyres.'

Seat dealers can also offer handy winter accessories such as Seat-approved spare bulb and fuse kits, windscreen washer concentrate, de-icer and incident safety kits.

For full details of Seat's winter accessories and services pop into your nearest Seat dealership or, for more information on winter tyres, visit www.tyresafe.org/winter tyres.

Winter tyres: They make a crucial difference as conditions change rapidly in the latter half of the year.

Johnson's polish seals points

Haverhill Rovers 2 Bishops Stortford 1

Eastern Junior Alliance, under-14
HAVERHILL Rovers extended their unbeaten start to the season, working hard to see off a strong side who were content to compete in a fast-paced game.

Chidera Nkem-Paul and Michael Johnson forced good saves from the Stortford keeper before the latter put his side ahead after being put in by Rhys Shulver.

At the other end, Francis Ford made some good stops before Stortford's second-half pressure forced an equaliser.

Rovers responded well, and after Johnson hit the woodwork he put the home side back in front with a powerful header from a Charlie Lewis free kick.

Kedington 4 Little Paxton 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B
A MATCH that began with a sombre minute's silence in memory of Spartak 78's Josh Bysouth, who was killed in a road accident the previous week, ended with Kedington taking all three points.

The home side had a two-goal lead at the break. The first was a scrambled affair after Jack Towbridge hit the post and then had the rebound blocked before Conor Rankin fired home.

Ty Alleyne converted the second, pouncing on the rebound from Rankin's shot, and although Little Paxton pulled a goal back and nearly added a second but for a good save and another good block. Ellis Wiffen restored the two-goal cushion and then added a fourth.

LIAM Mitchell topped a man of the match performance with the goal of the game. He scored four times for the DAS Business Furniture Ltd sponsored side but the pick of the bunch was a stunning swerving drive from 22 yards.

Wright on!

NICKY Wright was the star of the show at the Haverhill Charity League finals night.

The Haverhill Rovers A team player walked off with the singles and pairs crowns after helping his team to runners-up spots in the league and the handicap league cup.

Wright (right) beat his Rovers A team-mate Andy Grey in the singles final after seeing off Andy Pordage in the semi-final and Gary Manning in the last eight. In the pairs he teamed up with Steve Hayward to beat Chris Dale and Richard Watson in the final after putting out Ray Frewer and Steve Manning in the semi-final.

HAVERHILL dug deep and produced a superb result, considering they had four players drop out and had to play with nine and no subs. Charlotte Richter led the way with two goals, with Jess Stearn and Georgia Beavis adding the others.

ROVERS survived a slow start and then stormed into a 5-0 lead before the break. Billy Jarvis broke the deadlock before Morgan Jones weighed in with two goals as Rovers laid siege to the Waterbeach goal. Billy Hemmings and James Samms concluded the first-half scoring before two further goals from Jones left Waterbeach with a mountain to climb. The visitors eventually scored in the last few minutes.

Hundon Hawks 16 Ramsey 0
Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-13
JACK Krempel helped himself to five goals as ruthless Hawks powered into the next round. Skipper Milo Holmes chipped in with four as Hawks combined waves of attacks with miserly defending.

Further goals from Harry Sargeant (2), Andre Henrique (2), Tyler Bell (2) and Sammy Whittaker ensured Hundon made it comfortably through.

West Wrattling 3 Sawston Utd 1
Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-16
WEST Wrattling despatched A team rivals Sawston to move into the next round of the cup.

James Percy opened the scoring after a fairly even start, taking advantage of a 15th minute collision between the visiting keeper and one of his defenders.

And that lead was extended on 27 minutes when Percy and Harrison Ford combined to put in Josh Free, who beat his marker and slotted home.

And Percy was also involved in the third, beating two defenders and crossing for Tom Warnock to score from six yards. Sawston's replay was a long-range free kick which from the goalkeeper which dipped under the Wrattling bar.

Hou's that! It's a double double

PAUL Houchen turned back the clock to repeat the Signpost Paints Cup – Spencer Woods Cup double he achieved 17 years ago.

He completed this year's double by winning the Haverhill club's summer matchplay event in a nail-biting final against club champion Andy Bareham, which was won on the final green.

Bareham stormed into a four-hole lead after 10 holes thanks to birdies on the fourth, fifth and sixth, but Houchen was back on level terms by the 16th.

Houchen then won the 17th and landed the title with a half on the 18th, despite finding a greenside bunker with his approach shot.

Houchen also won the Spencer Woods Cup on the 18th, seeing off junior member, Liam Merritt.

■ Stowmarket finally got their hands on the Curry Cup after beating Gosfield 11-7 in the final at Couplands Road.

The Suffolk club, twice runners-up, had to survive a brief revival after Gosfield clawed back a 5-1 deficit from the morning foursomes to draw level at 6-6 in the singles.

Haverhill, who were invited to stage the final as former winners of the competition, then travelled to the beaten finalists the following day for a friendly match, played as American foursomes with stableford scoring.

Gosfield claimed victory 335pts to 311.

■ Richard Mansfield took the overall prize in the men's medal match.

He fired an impressive nett 67 and, as a result, has had his handicap cut by one.

Details – Division One: 1 Richard Parker 80-12-68, 2

Steve Nichols 82-12-70, 3 Gary Baird 81-10-71. Division Two: 1 Richard Mansfield 80-13-67, 2 Howard Craven 86-18-68 on countback from 3 Geoff Bush 86-18-68. Division Three: 1 John Vale 96-27-69, 2 Andrew Howard 98-27-71, 3 David Pearce 99-28-71.

■ Haverhill's seniors have had a mixed bag of results since their 5½- 2½ defeat at Lord Notleys.

They were beaten 5½- 2½ at Saffron Walden, trounced Heydon Grange 7-1 at home, drew 4-4 with Stoke-by-Nayland and then beat Bury St Edmunds 5-3 at home.

They then lost 7-3 to Thetford, 6-2 at Colne Valley but beat Fynn Valley 6-2 at Couplands Road.

■ Gerry Wheatley won the Fraser Plate with 34pts, pipping Lyn Fish, who finished with 33.

Jackie Condon was third on countback with 32pts.

Wratting earn some sympathy

Lakenheath 4 West Wratting 0 Kershaw League, Premier Division DAVE Pinkowski, the Lakenheath boss, had some complimentary words for West Wratting after Aaron Turner and Steve Harley shared the goals in Saturday's encounter.

Wratting were 3-0 down at the break but only conceded the fourth 10 minutes from time, and Pinkowski said: "I think 4-0 was a bit flattering because Wratting are a decent outfit who have played a lot of the top sides so far.

"I'm confident they'll start picking up points."

Brian Pilgrim, Wratting's joint boss, said: "We couldn't cope with them in the first half and although we were better second half, we were never as good as them.

"Individually, we've got good players, but we don't work as hard as Lakenheath do or have the same quality."

RICHARD Heller fired the young Rovers into the next round after coming off the subs' bench to score a hat-trick.

He had to replace Jordan Tovey in the 15th minute and within five minutes had opened the scoring with a fine individual goal.

Heller then converted a penalty to make it 2-0 at the break. And although a combination of poor finishing and enforced changes allowed the home side to get a foothold in the game with a long-distance goal, Heller completed his hat-trick with his second penalty after he had been up-ended.

Five-star Rovers

Haverhill Rovers 5 Norwich United 1 FA Vase second qualifying round

HAVERHILL Rovers put in a dominant second-half performance to overwhelm Norwich United at the New Croft.

After an even first half an hour, Rovers began to take control with striker Dan Cornwell shooting wide and then lobbing both the Norwich goalkeeper and the crossbar in the space of two minutes.

It was left to centre-back Stuart Wardley to open the scoring after 38 minutes. A Jack Higgs free kick arrived in the box, and while others were appealing for handball, Wardley acrobatically fired past keeper Ben Nower. Rovers doubled their lead just after the break, when a cross from Jack Wilkinson saw Nower and Steve Shipley collide, leaving the ball at the feet of Higgs, who converted from six yards.

Wilkinson made the game safe after 63 minutes, firing home after a fine lay-off from Scott Lodge, and he made it four after turning on the edge of the penalty area and calmly finishing.

Ross King pulled a goal back for the visitors with 18 minutes remaining, but the ever-dangerous Cornwell concluded the scoring in the 80th minute.

■ A young Haverhill Rovers side overcame CRC 1-0 thanks to an own goal in the first half of their League Cup, preliminary round tie on Tuesday.

Jack Wilkinson's corner was turned into his own net by a CRC player to give the home side the lead, and although Rovers' Scott Lodge had a good shot saved in the second half, the single goal was enough for victory.

■ Rovers are at home to Dereham in the Ridgeons League on Saturday before the trip to Ely City on Tuesday for a Mid-Anglian derby.
